Stewart AFB Will Get SAGE Section

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has announced a realignment of air defense facilities. The shuffle will result in the closing of four "SAGE" direction centers and more than score of manned and unmanned radar sites, the relocation of two regional headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command and the elimination of an air division headquarters.

"The realignment," the Pentagon said Friday, "is aimed at achieving the best means of affording an effective defense against the long-range bomber threat. It will provide the best possible ground environmental capability and will assure maximum survivability of an air defense force in event of large scale ballistic missile attack."

The four direction centers—called SAGE for Semi-Automatic Ground Environment—are part of a national system for locating, tracking and directing intercepting planes and missiles approaching enemy lines.

Due for Late Summer

The SAGE centers being shut down: Larson Air Force Base, Wash., to be closed late summer; K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., to be closed late fall; the direction center at Beale Air Force Base, Calif., to be closed in early summer; the SAGE Combat Center at Hancock Field, Syracuse, N.Y., to be transferred to Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, N.Y., late summer.

The shift involving Hancock Field is complicated. While the SAGE Combat Center will be moved to Stewart, the main SAGE center will remain at Hancock. The SAGE Direction Center at Stewart will be converted to a combat center for the 26th Air Division headquarters.

HQs Also Moving

Meanwhile, the 26th Air Division headquarters now at Hancock will be switched to Stewart. The other regional headquarters being relocated is the 32nd, now at Oklahoma City. A new headquarters will be set up at Montgomery, Ala.

The Hancock Field SAGE installations now employ 876 persons of which 689 are military and the remainder civilian. About half will be retained there.

The transfer of some of Hancock's operations to Stewart will mean addition of 437 personnel at Stewart, 263 of them from the military, the Pentagon said.

A spokesman said civilians who lost their jobs because of the changes would be assisted in finding new jobs elsewhere.

Reports Shuts Simply Restates Policy of Board

The statement of John R. Shults, Jr. regarding his position on corporal punishment of students has been reviewed by the committee Proper Education Through Proper Expenditures, who have endorsed candidates, J. Collins Troy and John H. Deegan. The committee felt that the best interests of their candidates would be served by bringing a few facts to the attention of the voters.

Shults' statement appeared in Friday's edition of the Freeman. For the record, Shults has simply restated the present policy of the Board—Re: Corporal punishment and teachers rights, the committee reports. "As such, it should not," in the committee's opinion, "be interpreted by the voters as something new for our local school district...because it is not. The 1962 Handbook on Education Law (W. J. Hagerty, Prof. of Ed.) page 47 clearly defines and approves of corporal punishment as it pertains to the teacher-student relationship. Further—this book also covers the legal protection afforded the teacher, if required, in such situations," the statement added.

At the recent hearing of the case in point, Kingston school authorities were present giving their full support to this teacher. While the committee does not know the position of other candidates, it is not their business to speculate. (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

July Start Is Possible On County Building Job

Construction on the new Main Street county office building may start as early as July, Jesse McHugh, chairman of the board of supervisors, said today.

Commencement of work will depend on the final approval by the board of the plans and specifications which are now ready to go out for bids.

McHugh today said that a meeting of the Building Committee with department heads would be held within the next few days, perhaps next Tuesday, at which time the plans will be discussed and submitted for approval to the various county departments which will be housed in the new building.

'DOCTORING' THE CLOCK—Michael Kirk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Kurken V. Kirk, gets ready for the switch to the "fast time" effective Sunday at 2 a. m. by pushing the clock ahead an hour. Young Michael gets an assist from Robert Hazenbush, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush. Some 11.3 million Americans will lose that hour Sunday when Daylight Saving Time becomes effective in more than half the states, all or in part, and the District of Columbia. Americans on the "fast time" schedule will regain the hour when the clocks are turned back 60 minutes next fall. (Freeman photo)

No Postal Cutback Due for City Now

Kingston's postal service apparently will not be immediately affected by a Post Office Department order curtailing services and expenses in major cities throughout the country.

The department, reacting sharply to budget cuts by the House, ordered rigid economies in its operations in 68 big cities, according to the Associated Press.

Minimum Hours Stressed

As outlined in the telegram, the department order includes: The threat of eliminating plans to extend delivery or mail to new office buildings and housing developments.

A ban on the hiring of new employees. Limitation of overtime in any future accounting period to the amount paid out during the four-week period ending last March 29.

Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said today that his office didn't receive a telegram, but that a Post Office Department memorandum was received Friday, directing the local office to "keep your hours to a minimum until further notice without any impairment to service."

Newkirk Hopeful

Newkirk said the memorandum did not direct any "cutback," but advised against making any extension of routes. The federal department directive "isn't going to affect us in any way as far as I can see at present," Newkirk said.

He said the telegrams might have been sent to the "$1 million" post offices—those whose volume of business is $1 million or more a year.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day had told Congress earlier that drastic reductions in department operations would be necessary if the Senate which is now considering the budget, went along with the House cuts. The House trimmed $92 million from the $49-billion spending program proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and cut $83 million from a $166,863,000 supplemental appropriation intended to enable the department to make ends meet in the fiscal year ending June 30.

Kaye Rules Out New Hall Term

Also Bars Race For Mayor's Post

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, who has served in that position for six years, today announced that he would not seek re-election to that office, or would he seek the Democratic nomination for mayor of Kingston.

In a statement issued today Alderman-at-Large Kaye said he felt an elected official should not serve too long in any office in order that a "fresh spirit of progressive change" for the betterment and prosperity of the community might take place.

Statement Issued

Alderman-at-Large Kaye's statement follows: "I do not intend to be a candidate for alderman-at-large in the coming election. Neither do I intend to be a nominee for the very important position of mayor."

Chance for Others

"I have enjoyed six wonderful years in the city government and as much as I would like to continue my active service in the affairs of the Common Council, I feel that any elected official should not serve too long in any office so that other dedicated civic minded men and women may be elected to guarantee a fresh spirit of progressive change for the betterment and prosperity of the community as a whole."

Rumor Mill Busy On Altar Plans For Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP)—Public speculation about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's possible marriage plans accelerated today, fueled by a little fact and a lot of conjecture.

The lady whom rumor links with the Republican governor, 54, newly divorced Margaretta (Happy) Fisher Murphy, 36, remained in seclusion.

Just as the governor has refused to discuss his own divorce of 13 months ago, so has he refused to comment on the divorce four weeks ago of Mrs. Murphy, social register former member of his staff.

Her former husband, Dr. James S. Murphy, 41, works as a medical researcher for the Rockefeller Institute.

Some Say It Has Occurred

Although Rockefeller's press secretary painstakingly pointed out that the "no comment" should be taken to mean only that, the governor's refusal to quiet the rumors—and the smile on his face as he does so—inevitably prompted speculation.

And a rare three-week gap in

SAYS BOMBS FELL ON HAVANA—Alexander Rorke reports that he was aboard a plane that dropped bombs on a refinery in Havana Thursday. Rorke, who said he is from New York City, made his announcement at an anti-communist meeting in Washington, D. C. (AP Wirephoto)

Skepticism Noted On Refinery Raid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A free lance photographer who claims he took part in a bombing raid on Havana says he'll press the attack on Communist Cuba "at every opportunity."

More than eight hours after Alexander Rorke Jr. of New York gave newsmen his account of a low-level bombing run over a Havana oil refinery, the Cuban government echoed most of his story and said it holds the United States responsible.

No Visible Indications

But the State Department cast doubt on the whole matter. Press officer Lincoln White said: "We have no information on this at all, and we assume that if it had happened we would have heard about it. The first voice to shrill about this would have been radio Havana."

After Havana Radio broadcast the Cuban government's statement Friday night, White had no comment.

Associated Press correspondent George Arfield said in a dispatch from Cuba that there were no indications that the NICO Lopez refinery outside Havana had been bombed. He said usually reliable sources had expressed doubt there was a raid.

Havana Radio said "the Cuban government holds the United States government responsible for these pirate attacks and the consequences that may come from them."

Havana Plans Protest

It said a formal diplomatic protest was being prepared.

As outlined by the Cuban government, the raid took place at 10 p.m. Thursday night. Rorke told newsmen the plane started its bombing run at 8:55 p.m. and was over the refinery for 4 minutes and 40 seconds.

In most other details the two versions meshed. Both Rorke

Outshouts Translator On Arrival

Red Capital Set For Bearded One

MOSCOW (AP)—Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Saturday he would cherish the memory of his ear-splitting welcome in the arctic city of Murmansk as "the most exciting moment of our life."

The Soviet news agency Tass said thousands had greeted the bearded Cuban on his hush-hush midnight arrival for a first visit to the Soviet Union. Castro put it higher and said he would guess all 200,000 of the city's population had turned out to meet him.

Mikoyan Leads Greeters

Leading them was First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan who went to Havana last autumn to smooth things over after Soviet Premier Khrushchev had said he would withdraw Soviet rockets. Neither Castro nor Mikoyan made any mention Saturday of those events in their speeches, which were broadcast by Moscow Radio.

Castro began calmly and slowly, but was soon outshouting his Soviet translator, who had begun shouting at the very beginning.

The fact that Castro was arriving in the Soviet Union was a closely guarded secret, both here and in Cuba, although it had been announced 11 days ago that the Cuban would make a visit to the Soviet Union this year.

It will not be Castro's first meeting with Khrushchev. They met in New York at a United Nations session more than 2½ years ago.

Notes War Sacrifices

Castro began his speech by praising the people of Murmansk for their "great sacrifices" during World War II, when the port was one of the main entry points for the vast quantities of supplies that came from the West.

"Speaking honestly," Castro said, "I never supposed that it would be at this point on the globe that I would start my acquaintance with your great country."

The regular scheduled air route from Cuba to the Soviet Union runs from Havana to Murmansk. This is to avoid passing over the territory of any other country.

There are two flights a week by TU114 giant jet props. It is reportedly the longest nonstop flight in the world.

Castro launched into a brief declaration about the need for solidarity of the international working class. He also spoke about what he called the merits of Marxism-Leninism.

When he finished, the crowd

Jacobia, Old Chatham; William E. Vaughn, Greenville; Alan R. Mann, Cobleskill; Thomas J. Dolan, Dover Plains; John M. Edwards, Chester.

Kingston Resident Plays Vital Role In Philippine Training for Asians

Paul J. Dunn, a 1941 graduate of Kingston High School, is expected to reach Kingston presently after spending nearly 2½ years in the Philippines while serving with the Agency for International Development Mission as a regional training officer.

Dunn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Dunn of 15 Voorhees Avenue, will come to Kingston with his wife and their four sons, William 10; Cory, 7; Paul Jr. 5 and Peter 3. Mrs. Dunn is the former Katherine Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Schmidt of 125 First Avenue, King's Park.

In a recent report of his activities to the State Department in Washington, Dunn wrote:

"The Philippines have become an international technical training center and the participating training project is adding measurably to the progress of developing countries."

The Kingston man has been working with private and public agencies arranging training programs in the Philippines for U.S.-sponsored participants from more than 20 nations.

Participants come from as far as Africa and the Middle East under the auspices of AID. Philippine private and government agencies collaborate with the AID Mission and its Philippine counterpart, the National Economic Council, in programming study and observation tours of the "third country participants," at the more advanced social, educational and government institutions which have developed in the Philippines.

Dunn said he had seen hundreds of technicians from all over the world come to the Philippines and return to their own countries better suited to the task of country development.

Since the start of the Philippine-American partnership in technical training, 2,269 nationals have completed study and observation tours in 11 major fields, including agriculture, health, education, community development, industry and labor.

A 1948 graduate of the State University of New York Teachers College at Oswego, Dunn was formerly a high school teacher in Virginia and for 10 years was head of the U. S. Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, where he was head of the training branch from 1956-60. He is a member of the American Society of Training Directors and the American Management Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn and their children are expected to return to the Philippines sometime in June.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

High in the Swiss Alps there is a statue of St. Bernard de Menthon pointing the way to his Hospice. The inscription reads, "You who climb the Alps in safety under my guidance, continue with me to the House of Heaven." St. Bernard was born in 923. While a student in Paris, he realized that God had called him for the priesthood. Not long after his ordination he became the Archdeacon of Aosta, Italy, at the foot of the great pass which would later bear his name.

There he saw the hazards that beset travelers through the pass; not only avalanches but robbers who preyed on them. With a little band of helpers he conquered the robbers, then built the Hospice as a life saving refuge for the travelers.

Today, monks of the great St. Bernard Hospice continue to sustain the power of faith its founder had a thousand years ago.

College Day Will Be Observed This Week by Churches

Sunday, designated as Christian College Day, will see a special emphasis on Christian Higher Education in various churches and offerings for church-related colleges received in some. Many such institutions are sending faculty members and student groups to make presentations in the churches.

Columbia Broadcasting System's Church of the Air, marking the occasion, will feature an address by Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, president of Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, with music for the service provided by the university choir. Dr. Stoughton, a layman, is a native of Staten Island, where he was president of Wagner College. Last week civic and educational leaders on the Island honored him at a testimonial dinner.

After developing and heading the Lutheran Layman's movement for Stewardship for nearly a decade, Dr. Stoughton went to Wittenberg where he has served as president for a dozen years.

The radio program on which this educator who has addressed Lutheran church groups in the area on many occasions will be featured, will be carried by WKNY at 5:35 p. m. Sunday.

He will speak at the church school and at the worship hour. The service at 11:05 a. m. will be broadcast over WKNY, according to announcement by the pastor, the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter.

Dr. Blake has administrative responsibility for Methodist work in six countries of Africa south of the Sahara, including Liberia, Angola, Republic of the Congo, Southern Rhodesia, Mozambique and South Africa. In 1957, he succeeded Dr. Ralph Dodge, who was elected Methodist bishop of the Salisbury Area of The Methodist Church. The Salisbury Area (Southern Rhodesia) includes Angola, Mozambique, Southern Rhodesia, and South Africa.

A native of Corydon, Ind., Dr. Blake spent his early life there and in Eaton, Ind. He studied four years at Taylor University, Upland, Indiana, and received a bachelor of arts degree in 1940. He went to Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., and received a bachelor of divinity degree in 1943. While in seminary, Dr. Blake served student pastorates in Rockland County, and from 1943 to 1946 was pastor of The Methodist Church. He holds the honorary doctor of divinity degree from Taylor University.

Dr. Blake and his family were appointed to Angola in 1946. They spent some time in Portugal in preparation for their 10 years of service in Angola which included various phases of the missionary program — education, evangelism, and positions related to legal and business matters for the mission.

Dr. Blake serves on the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Technical Assistance Foundation, Inc., of Los Angeles, California; and on the following boards and committees of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA: Africa Committee of the Division of Foreign Missions; World Literacy and Literature; Rural Missions Cooperating Committee; Church World Service; the Consultative Committee on Africa Sunday School Curriculum and on the Board of Managers of the Committee on Missionary Education and others.

Usually he didn't even make expenses. Kirkindall's mission has long since outgrown his tavern where he once stood behind the bar each evening and preached to a handful of people. Presently the mission is a large structure in Blytheville's business district. The building includes a dormitory where as many as 25 men sometimes sleep.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Daylight saving time will go into effect at two o'clock Sunday morning. To avoid some errors of the past in meeting the change, it might be a good idea to set timepieces ahead one hour before going to bed tonight.

Although widely adopted, daylight saving time is still a source of controversy. Most farmers dislike it and others say with the drift in recent years toward shorter and shorter working hours there is little excuse for advancing the clocks.

It was Benjamin Franklin, then minister to France, who figured out that in the spring and summer the Parisians burned candles unnecessarily for 1,281 hours. But his suggestion for reform was met with ridicule. Daylight saving was not adopted until March, 1918, when Congress put it into effect nationwide as a wartime measure.

Repeated two years later after complaints from farmers, daylight saving did not return until World War 2. It now has come into general use on a community or state basis.

Legislation was introduced at the recent session of the Legislature to put New York State on daylight saving time throughout the year. The Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety considered the proposal from traffic safety and public opinion points of view. No action was taken on the measure.

Be sure to set your clock ahead one hour when you retire tonight.

WITH A NET BELOW

Numerous spectator sports offer the chance that audiences will witness sudden death. Auto races are notorious in this regard. Every now and then a man is beaten to death in the prize ring.

And all too often a circus crowd including many children is treated to the horror of seeing a performer hurtle down to smash on the sawdust. The latest victim of such a spectacle was Henrietta Grotefent, one of the famed Wallenda family. She was dead when fellow performers reached her.

The element of danger cannot be wholly eliminated from entertainment that requires physical skill. But generally certain precautions can be taken without robbing a performance of its interest for spectators.

This is notably true of circus acts done high above the crowd—routines on the trapeze, the flexible pole, the high wire. Nothing is added to the act by having it done without a safety net below. Are we so uncivilized that we get a special thrill from the knowledge that a performer who slips may plunge to death? If we are not, then a bit of simple legislation could handle the problem. There is no good argument against requiring that a net be used in the "high" circus acts.

PERSONAL BREEZES

Though chilly spring zephyrs may make residents of some parts of the country skeptical about the prospects for hot weather, it is as certain as anything can be that steamy days lie ahead. This gives added interest to the news that a couple of doctors have developed an individual air conditioner that distributes cool air to the wearer's head and torso.

The gadget, weighing only about six pounds, operates on compressed air. It is worn on the back. Flexible tubing beneath the wearer's clothing and a fabric hood conveys cool air hither and yon. The effect is that of being caressed by a steady cooling breeze.

The fact that this device was developed for industrial workers who labor in high temperatures will not prevent many another citizen from thinking covetous thoughts about it. Consider the delights of having a built-in breeze while weeding the rose garden on a sultry afternoon. Imagine having that breeze play over one's frame as one trudges through the lawn-mowing under a hot sun. We can hardly wait for the personal air conditioner to come on the market.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

HE PLANTED MORE THAN IVY

No head of Yale University had died in office for more than a century. So, as a huge overflow crowd of mourners stood around the old campus outside of Battell Chapel in New Haven, Connecticut, last Monday to pay their last respects to Yale President A. Whitney Griswold, dead of cancer at the age of 56, it was a solemn local event of the first importance.

Whitney Griswold belonged to the somewhat insulated circles of the Ivy League colleges and the American Northeast, which was not sufficient in itself to give him national stature. But in two spheres of his activity he had spoken to the nation as a whole, with salutary results that are still expanding.

The most important of President Griswold's national crusades was directed at overcoming the worst ravages of the so-called "progressive" education that had made a mockery of basic standards in the grammar schools and high schools of the land. Watching students enter college over the years, Whitney Griswold was sometimes appalled at what even a bright high school graduate had to do in freshman year to make up for deficiencies that traced back to the grammar grades. There were students who couldn't spell, students who couldn't put good sentences together, students who hadn't really learned to read. Yet there was nothing wrong with their I.Q.'s.

Whitney Griswold had the courage to assail the powerful National Education Association for debasing educational values. He thought the NEA was guilty of encouraging what he called a "service station" view of education. He had nothing against baton twirling, fudge making, dry fly fishing or the proper techniques of dating, but he doubted the wisdom of making provision for such things in any curriculum when there were other things to be learned. And the idea of using good time in a high school English class to conduct a seminar on the use of the telephone directory seemed to him the final insult to Shakespeare and Charles Dickens.

For their role in turning out teachers who willingly acquiesced in watering down the educational content of courses, President Griswold let fly with some exquisite sarcasms at the teachers' colleges of America. By concentrating on "methodology" at the expense of content, the teachers' colleges, so Griswold insisted, made their courses so "repellent" that no first-rater could face the ordeal of taking a degree in pedagogy. "The whole teacher-training curriculum," he said, "has been frozen into law in many states. There are certification requirements, and if you will examine them you will find that many are the relics of the old system of pedagogy."

Because of his crusade, President Griswold did much to provoke the current swing-back from the idea that if a teacher had mastered the techniques of setting up a "project" for his class he need know next to nothing about the subject he was supposed to be teaching. Courses in pedagogical "methodology" still occupy a large space in teachers' college catalogues, but the "content" courses have been inching up on them.

President Griswold's second educational crusade arrayed him against institutes set up to teach "international studies." As a scholar in the field of diplomatic history, Dr. Griswold believed in precision. He happened to come into the field at a time when it was fashionable to divorce the subject of "international relations" from the solid substance of national history. The airiness with which the experts in "international studies" tossed their abstractions around was no abhorrent to the Yankee realist side of Whitney Griswold's nature that he sent a number of professors packing. He wanted history taught as history, a seamless web that had both national and international aspects.

The Griswold crusades to make the "whole teaching profession more attractive" had an effect that went far beyond the cloisters of the Ivy League colleges. Hence, though his main concern was to build Yale, A. Whitney Griswold deserves to be remembered as one of the "movers and a general catastrophe." (Copyright, 1963, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Mature Parent Reaction to Fanaticism

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

I can't get my 9-year-old girl to admit she has done something wrong. Though she doesn't actually lie, she takes so long to admit the truth that it's almost the same thing. She recently left her closet light burning all day, but hasn't yet admitted it. I have removed the bulb and told her she can have it back when she acknowledges what she did. She's been without the light for two weeks now.

ANSWER: Are you especially anxious to keep your light bill down?

I ask this because children DO hesitate to confess an act which they know contains special offense to us.

If we're fanatic about the daily bath routine, Johnny will be slow to confess he hasn't taken one. If we are especially intent on preserving the refrigerator's temperature, he will be especially reluctant to admit leaving its door open. It is the special intensity of feeling we bring to a child's wrongdoing that makes it hard for him to admit an offense we find so offensive.

If your daughter has been made aware that economy in the use of electric light is of great importance to you, it's natural for her to feel ashamed of her abuse of it and postpone confession of her carelessness. I'd replace her bulb and say:

Janet, I'm trying to save money on the light bill. If you want to help me do it, please turn off this bulb when you are through with it. If you don't, say so. And I'll check your light myself. I don't want to do this. I don't want to go pushing into a closet that doesn't belong to me.

The "wrong" we see in any wrongdoing varies according to our training. In medieval England the Robin Hood whom we today would confine in a penitentiary for larceny was admired as a hero. To our great-grandmothers, the pregnancy which your friend casually announces at a party was a subject no lady discussed. To us all, the wrong in wrongdoing is conditioned by our special experiences.

I'm for saving on electric bills, too. But I don't believe in bringing intense feelings to the virtue of thrift. I think it's a useful thing to teach a child but that awareness of his point of view is more important.

I think that keeping the electric light bill down is not nearly so important as perceiving that one's child wants so to please us that she has disclaimed an act she knows will displease us. (All rights reserved Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

THE CITIES' DANGER

Large cities like New York face two serious problems, racial discrimination and the flight of middle class families to the suburbs. This is the finding of New York's Community Service Society.

There are enormous gaps to be closed, says the Society, before equal rights in housing, education and employment can be obtained by minority groups. If the departure of the middle class continues, New York could become "a city of industrial parks, a few clustered islands of the well-to-do, and a handful of large commercial centers—all interlaced with blighted low-income neighborhoods."

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger really stirred newsmen's curiosity when he announced one morning that he would have a statement of major importance at 5:30 p. m. that day.

In both Washington and Palm Beach, where President Kennedy was vacationing at the time, the rumors flew.

Then, at the Florida end, a veteran correspondent sidled up to a group of buzzing reporters and, with a solemn, all-knowing air, said flatly:

"He's meeting Khrushchev." That seemed to be that—until 5:30 p. m., when Salinger announced at the White House that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was expecting another baby.

A WASHINGTON girl reporter impersonating Caroline Kennedy at the Women's Press Club annual stunt night declared that her daddy should have been a plumber. The punch line was: "Then he'd know what to do about all those leaks that bother him so much."

AT THE SAME function, where their bosses and other members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors were guests of honor, two newspaper gals were costumed in men's clothes to represent Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson. They sang a parody on "Bill Bailey Won't You Please Come Home":

The Peace Corps recruits Americans and sends them to live among the underdeveloped abroad. The National Service Corps will recruit Americans and send them to live among the underdeveloped people in America. The Youth Conservation Corps will recruit underdeveloped Americans and send them to live among the trees. The Home Town Youth Corps will help members of other corps with packing and unpacking for all those trips.

GRAND DUCHESS Charlotte, reigning royal highness of Luxembourg, and her son, His Royal Highness Prince Jean, arrive in the United States April 29, but they'll come by separate flights. The Grand Duchess will land at Philadelphia International airport and her son will land at New York half an hour later. Then they'll come to Washington together for a long delayed official visit of state at the invitation of President Kennedy. The hereditary Grand Duchess's consort Prince Felix was invited too, but can't come because of illness.

The separate air travel is for safety, so that if an accident occurs, there will be a survivor in the royal line.

Prince Jean is expected to succeed his mother, the Grand Duchess, as early as next year, when she retires from the throne. Born in 1896, Grand Duchess Charlotte succeeded her sister, the late Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, on Jan. 24, 1924. The Grand Duchess has six children and 23 grandchildren. All are married, except for one son, Charles. Prince Jean, who is now 42 years old, is the oldest.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Harry Siemsen, folklorist, musician and egg farmer from Sawkill phoned me the other day to tell me about the Hootenanny show which can be seen on Channel 7 at 8 p. m. I think, Saturday. Somehow I was not able to receive it but will try again next week.

I got talking to Mr. Siemsen about modern and old-fashioned chickens and eggs. He told me the wild hen does not produce about 24 eggs a year. The normal farm hen would produce about 160 eggs a year, but now through proper breeding a hen can produce about 240 eggs a year. He calls them monstrosities. He says the same goes for cows. He says some hens will lay as much as 300 and some 360 eggs a year. I understand, that in some hen houses, lights burn all night, so the poor hen does not know when to sleep. Remember when everyone who had a little ground would have a few chickens, for breakfast eggs. I like to hear chickens and a rooster in early morning. That is all in the past. As one of my readers said, "now chickens live in apartment houses." Running in the green grass and sunshine is not for them.

I stopped in at the Artcraft Gallery at 694 Broadway, where M. B. Wakefield, an art instructor at the Grahamsville schools is displaying, oils, etchings, and other works of art until May 1. The reason I went to see it, because it seems he specializes in Americana of the late 1890's and early 1900's. He painted in oils a picture of our Rhinebeck Ferry Slip, from the Sleighs burgh side, as it was in its last years. I said.

In time, all that will be left of our America, will be such pictures in great detail as Mr. Wakefield paints. Those who remember the Garbarino's fruit store at 784 Broadway, must see the painting he made of that corner, the green and white awning, and the white fence. To the other part of the picture he added his own version of buildings from Albany. A newspaper picture was taken of this painting and Governor Rockefeller is admiring it. Garbarino's market may be gone from our midst, but Mr. Wakefield put it on canvas in color so that it will remain alive as long as the canvas. This painting won Mr. Wakefield a prize in the Albany Institute of History of Arts.

Of course, the interchange is a wonderful modern project, and I cannot imagine how we could ever be without it, but I always liked walking on that corner and enjoying the different seasons at Garbarino's outside fruit display. You could stroll past the Woman's Home Exchange and Art Goods at 778 Broadway, right next door to Garbarino's at 784 Broadway. Often on the way to the radio station when I worked there in the 1940's I would stop in at the Woman's Home Exchange and buy delicious fresh home made cookies. It was a safe walk and a pleasant one, and I always stopped near Garbarino's for he had all sorts of fruits and vegetables and flowers and was friendly.

Another painting Mr. Wakefield calls "The 11:47" which I take to be an old railroad station, which has an old clock on the wall, a coal stove and two ice cream parlor chairs, cozy and nice. He also is an illustrator and painter of railroads and old engines, of which he displays several etchings, and an illustration from Train magazine. He is a careful, accurate, precise painter and as years go on, I am sure he will be admired more and more. I feel his work is of historical importance and I do hope my readers have a chance to enjoy his show.

May Curb Rear-End Collisions

Rocky Signs Bill On Lights for Disabled Vehicles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Directional signal light on new motor vehicles registered in New York State from mid-1965 on will have to be wired to permit their use as continually flashing emergency lights.

Gov. Rockefeller said today he had signed a bill with that provision. The measure also will require that drivers of vehicles disabled or stopped for other reasons on a public highway turn on the flashing lights to warn other motorists.

From 1966 Year On
The governor said the bill "should substantially minimize the frequency of rear-end collisions, particularly on high-speed expressways."

The law will apply to all new vehicles from the 1966 model year on. Failure to comply with its provisions will subject motorists to penalties ranging up to a $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

The bill was among scores on which the governor announced decisions. These were other major actions:

—He approved, over the opposition of organized labor, a bill designed to ease the cost of unemployment insurance for companies with stable employment records.

—Rockefeller vetoed two bills that would have eased regulations governing the conduct of legalized bingo and another measure that would have increased from three to five the number of bars permitted in hotels, seashore or mountain resorts and country clubs.

May Cover Nursing Homes
—Approved was a measure allowing hospital - insurance plans, such as Blue Cross, to enter into contracts with nursing homes qualified to provide nursing care similar to that available in hospitals.

The flashing - light legislation was sponsored by the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety, which last year won enactment of a law requiring that seat belts be in the front seats of all new vehicles registered in the state beginning with the 1965 model year.

In signing the unemployment insurance bill, the governor said it would redistribute "more equitably" the burden of keeping the unemployment fund in balance.

Employers pay the full cost of the insurance. The new law will reduce the amount that stable employers must pay into the fund to make up drains caused by industries with widely fluctuating employment. Employees of the latter drain more from the fund than their employers put in.

The AFL-CIO argued that seasonal industries could not afford the higher costs.

Would Weaken Control
The bingo measures vetoed by the governor included one that would have required the Bingo Control Commission to give notice, furnish a list of changes and hold hearings before it could suspend a license. It has authority to make summary suspensions now.

The governor said the effectiveness of state controls would have been weakened considerably if he had signed the measure. The other bill vetoed would have allowed individual games of bingo at 15 cents each. At present, one fee covers all games played in a single evening.

thought he heard the 100-pounder at a refinery tank but he was unable to tell any damage. He said he was busy filming the raid, but that the film turned out poorly.

Some Answers Cryptic
Some of his answers were cryptic, such as when he told newsmen that the plane had taken off from a "small land mass off the Eurasian continent." Later he said "actually, the plane was launched from an island south of Cuba, then we swung around and came in the way it had been suggested."

The suggested route, he said, came from "the Cuban underground."

With him on the raid, Rorke said, were an American businessman, an American student from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a Cuban exile. None was identified further.

He said he had participated in leaflet raids over Cuba in October and December 1961 and would return "at every opportunity."

Rorke said U.S. Customs authorities have impounded his yacht, Violynn III, which had been used by Cuban exiles on 11 sea raids against Cuba before British authorities seized it in the Bahamas on March 31.

Two Pay Fines
Alden Roosa, 40, of 158 O'Neill Street, cited Thursday for speeding, paid a $15 fine today when he admitted the charge before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. John Bruckner, 37, of Box 394A West Hurley, paid a $5 fine when he admitted a charge of having no inspection sticker on his car. He was issued a summons Friday for the violation.

Wicks Firemen Will Get Uniforms Monday

All members of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., Inc., who were recently measured for uniforms have been requested to meet at the fire station, 17 Wiltwyck Avenue, Monday night at 7 o'clock.

A. Foster Winfield, who made the announcement this morning, said that the uniforms will be distributed to the firemen at this time.

Sure Erin Will Blow Top During Kennedy's Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—Dublin will never be the same after President Kennedy's scheduled visit there in June, says James J. O'Keefe, lord mayor of Dublin.

O'Keefe, arriving Friday for a 16-day visit, said of Kennedy's stopover in Ireland: "There never has been the like of it, and there will never be the like of it again. I assure you Ireland will go wild with delight. We hope to confer the freedom of the city upon him, and we hope he will accept it."

home and found an overstuffed chair afire in the first floor living room. He dragged the burning chair to the outside.

Quick Act Pivotal
Fire Department officials said the strong odor was from a type of foam rubber which burned in the overstuffed chair, which if inhaled for a length of time could be toxic. They said that had Msgr. Ostermann not discovered the fire and acted quickly, the blaze "could have taken hold."

Firemen extinguished the blaze with pressurized water and used a smoke ejector to clear the smoke and fumes.

Firemen from Engine 1, Truck 1 and the Wicks Company Salvage, fought the blaze. The last piece of apparatus returned to service at 9:09.

Fidel in Soviet

shouted, "Viva, Cuba! Viva Cuba!"

Mikoyan spoke only a few words: "Long live the leader of the Cuban revolution the people's hero Fidel Castro!"

Moscow prepared an ecstatic greeting for the first man to wave the banners of communism in triumph over any country in the Western Hemisphere.

Castro's obvious aim was to cement the Soviet-Cuban alliance and for the Soviet public, the culmination would come when he made his appearance atop the Lenin tomb in Red Square on May Day.

Castro received top government honors on his arrival. There was a guard of honor, and national anthems were played. Besides Mikoyan, Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, commander in chief of the Soviet Navy, was present.

Castro and Mikoyan boarded a train which will bring them into Moscow Sunday morning.

Only Available Route
The Cuban premier landed in Murnansk, not because of any de-dyed secrecy, but because the regular Cuba-U.S.S.R. plane—a Tu114 giant turboprop—always lands there. It leaves Havana every Sunday and Friday, and in the world's largest city north of the Arctic Circle the same day.

The reason for this route is that no country on the way will permit such a flight to and on or overfly its territory and consequently it must fly the only available over-ocean route.

Castro's intention to visit Russia was announced in Havana over a week ago and Khrushchev repeated it in a speech Wednesday. Neither one mentioned the date, however.

Bobby Lauds, CR Gains in Georgia, 'On Right Road'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has called on moderates all over the country to work together to prevent a rise in extremism on both sides of the racial issue.

He made the statement Friday—Confederate Memorial Day—during a whirlwind trip to Georgia, the third Southern state visited in two days and the only one in which there were no accompanying demonstrations.

Kennedy praised progress made in Georgia and the South in solving civil rights problems and said that "we are on the right road now."

He cited accomplishments in the fields of transportation and the peaceful desegregation of schools in such large cities as Atlanta and Dallas.

Kennedy visited with Gov. Carl E. Sanders—he talked with the governors of South Carolina and Alabama during visits to those states Thursday—then met newsmen, Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta, and federal law enforcement officials. He lunched with federal judges and toured the federal penitentiary.

Two Women Hurt In Auto Mishap

Two women were injured in a rear-end collision between a car and tractor trailer about 6:50 Friday night on Cedar Street near Martin's Lane.

Mae D. Passer, 33, of 12 North Wilbur Avenue, one of the drivers, suffered a cut left knee. Pamela Glass, 21, same address, a passenger in the car, suffered back and neck injuries and abrasions to the legs. Both women were to see their own doctor.

Patrolmen Anthony Turck and Otto Short said Mrs. Passer was stopped in a traffic lane behind a tractor trailer operated by Edward H. Milone, 22, of Schoonmaker Lane, Stone Ridge, which was also stopped. They said the tractor trailer backed up and struck the Passer car in the front end.

Rumor Mill Busy

Rockefeller's official schedule provided an anchor of fact for the gossip.

Rumors raced through political and social circles.

In Albany, sparked partly by cancellation of the governor's news conference Tuesday, the state capital buzzed this week with speculation that the marriage had occurred.

On Long Island, the gossip was that the marriage would take place there this weekend in the area of Southampton, where many in the Rockefeller financial circles make their home.

Calendar Is Open
Amid the conjecture was the fact that Rockefeller's calendar shows no official engagements from May 9 to May 31. The governor, who has been shuttling between state business and speaking engagements across the nation, seldom has such a lull.

Both Mrs. Murphy and Rockefeller's former wife, Mary Todd Hunter Clark, 55, are members of socially prominent Philadelphia families. Both are heiresses.

Each chose divorce when marriage failed. The Rockefellers after 31 years and the Murphys after 14. Mrs. Rockefeller obtained her decree in Reno March 16, 1962, and Mrs. Murphy in Sun Valley April 1, Nevada and Idaho are the only states in the nation requiring only six-weeks residence.

Mrs. Murphy ducked out of sight when her divorce was announced.

In a copyright story, the New York Mirror reported today that she had been staying in the Park Avenue apartment of her cousin, Mrs. Peter Iselin. The Mirror said:

From Europe to Ranch
"The governor visits her there, a close family friend revealed."

Efforts to reach her at the apartment were unsuccessful.

The Mirror also quoted an unidentified friend as saying the marriage "was planned as a very quiet affair, but it is growing; now it appears 25 close friends will attend. Then they will take a trip to Europe and wind up at the big Rockefeller ranch in Venezuela."

Mull was riding alone at the time of the accident.

Among the troopers who investigated the accident were Investigator Richard Ryan of the Lake Katrine station, Sergeant Joseph Cross, troopers Robert Radloff, Alfred Hoff and Ernest Lechmke of the Thruway detail.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Fred C. Dasher Funeral Home of Albany.

Occupants Escape Injury

Operators of two cars escaped injury Friday when their cars were involved in an intersection accident in the Town of Roseville about 10:15 p. m. A car operated east on Route 213 by Arnold Every, 28, of Rosendale, and a car operated by Meredith Morgan, 54, of Kerhonkson, collided at an intersection about a mile and a quarter east of Route 209. Trooper Thomas J. Crowley and Trooper Higgins investigated. Both cars were damaged.

Wallkill Approves Fire Station Bond

A $100,000 bond issue for erection of a new firehouse in Wallkill was approved Friday by a vote of 215 to 109.

The new firehouse, which was made necessary because of the crowded condition of the present building, will be erected in the center of the town near Old Bank Circle where the town building and library are located. Presently the fire department is housed in a 75-year-old wooden structure on Bridge Street.

Alabama Facing Sunday Session

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Weary state senators searched frantically today for a new compromise formula to end a school-tax filibuster still raging day and night after four days.

Unless the deadlock is broken during the day, administration leaders who have refused to let the Senate adjourn faced the unwelcome choice of a weekend recess or an unprecedented Sunday session.

In Session Since Tuesday
Two brief recess motions got through Friday, to give the warring factions time for cease-fire talks. Except for that, the 35-member Senate has been in continuous session since Tuesday without even a pause for meals.

For the fourth night in a row since the stalemate developed over a portion of Gov. George Wallace's school - revenue program, the proceedings halted momentarily at the close of one legislative day last midnight and began anew as soon as the clock showed it was Saturday.

A determined minority bloc of 11 senators began the filibuster to block passage of the governor's proposed new junior college-trad school program.

Wallace proposed a beer tax of two cents a bottle to finance construction and operation of five junior colleges and five new trade schools in addition to those already functioning. But the revenue would provide no additional funds for the needs of the existing schools.

Angry opponents, admittedly outnumbered, deadlocked the Senate with prolonged debate when the governor sought to get the new facilities financed before other revenue measures to take care of the present schools had been passed.

Part of Bill Passed
Part of the administration's $50-million yearly tax package to meet the existing educational needs has passed both houses of the Legislature, but the rest is still in committee in the Senate.

Wallace, in a statewide television broadcast calling for public pressure to end the filibuster and later in a formal message to the Senate itself, emphasized that the junior college-trade school program is part of his promised financial breakthrough for education. He promised to see that the existing schools as well as the new facilities are provided for.

It was because of the urgent needs of the schools that the governor called the current special session March 19. Now, after six weeks at a cost of $50,000 a week, no revenue measure has been enacted.

New GLCPMC Scale

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A sliding scale of prices fixed in relation to end-of-harvest deliveries was offered to processors Friday by the seven-state Great Lakes Cherry Producers Marketing Cooperative Inc.

Minimum price for cherries under the sliding schedule would be four cents a pound. It would be in effect if the full United States crop delivered to processors amounted to more than 250 million pounds.

Top price of cherries to processors on the suggested new scale would be eight cents a pound if the crop runs from 230 million pounds down.

Quarter-cent and half-cent price changes would be in effect for five-million pound gradients between the two extremes.

Officials of the GLCPMC, whose member orchardists produce most of the nation's tart cherries, said contracts with the new provisions have been submitted to processors.

The processors have until June 1 to accept or reject the plan and accompanying schedule.

Ex-Marine To Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Marine unfolds on Capitol Hill today his story that he was hustled out of the corps and ordered "to get lost and keep my mouth shut" about the 1961 seizure of a Cuban—allegedly suspected of being a spy—at the Navy's Guantanamo, Cuba, base.

The former 1st lieutenant, William A. Szil, said he was discharged after, he asserted, he had helped a captain—a Medal of Honor winner—dispose of the body.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., told newsmen he had asked Szil, now living in Norristown, Pa., to discuss the case with him today to see if there is a chance of appeal.

Drowns in Swamp

PHOENIX, N.Y. (AP) — The body of a 37-year-old man was found Friday in two feet of swamp water, four miles east of its Oswego County community.

Sheriff deputies said the victim's automobile was found Wednesday about one-quarter of a mile away in a ditch off Route 12. Edward Meyers of nearby Fulton, apparently wandered away from his car after it struck several guard rails and landed in the ditch, deputies said.

Acting County Coroner Eugene F. Sullivan ruled the death an accidental drowning.

A trapper in a boat spotted the body.

9 Persons Die As Cargo Plane Crashes in N. M.

PLACITAS, N.M. (AP)—An Air Force C47 cargo plane, apparently troubled by icing as it flew over the cloud-covered Sandia Mountains, crashed Friday, killing four crewmen and five passengers, including one woman.

Ed Gallegos Jr., of the Puertecito Ranch, said he had seen a section of the plane fall on a nearby ridge. This was followed by a gunning of engines and a column of smoke and fire when the plane slammed into the ground more than a mile farther west, he said.

Paul Reinhardt, foreman for the Diamond Tail Ranch where the plane fell, said he had been told by an Air Force official that the pilot had radioed the plane was icing up.

The craft, stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., was en route from Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, to Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque. The crash occurred about 30 miles northeast of Albuquerque.

Chemistry Whiz

Youth Is Charged As Mastermind of Negro Bombings

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten counts of arson have been lodged against a youthful chemistry whiz accused of masterminding a wave of bombings against the homes of Negroes.

Police said the juvenile, 16, and his friends had hurled Molotov cocktails into at least 14 South Side homes.

Most were the homes of Negroes. The others, police said, were the homes of whites suspected of intentions to sell their homes to Negroes or of whites bombed by mistake.

None of the fires set off by the Mootov cocktails — pop bottles filled with gasoline and fitted with a lighted wick—was serious.

Police raided the apartment headquarters of the gang Thursday and seized the youth and the first of 17 others.

Nine of the others—the oldest of them was 22—also have been charged with arson. The rest are charged with disorderly conduct.

Mock Senate Studies

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The annual New York State Intercollegiate Mock Senate had a series of debates on its calendar today after killing a bill designed to bar New York governors from running for President.

About 150 students from 28 colleges throughout the state are participating in the three-day session, which opened Friday. Timothy Dwan of Torrington, Conn., a senior at Niagara University, was elected president of the Senate at the opening session.

A spokesman for the group said the bill dealing with New York governors as presidential candidates was aimed at Gov. Rockefeller. Rockefeller is considered a leading candidate for next year's Republican presidential nomination.

The measure proposed to prohibit New York governors from running for federal office until they had completed their current terms. The bill was defeated in committee by a 132-2 vote.

On the floor, however, the Senate passed a bill that would require all motorists to submit proof of "physical fitness" as a condition to obtaining renewal of their drivers' licenses.

To Study Ocean Photos

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Pictures of the Atlantic floor, taken from the oceanographic research vessel Atlantis II, undergo scrutiny today for clues to the lost nuclear submarine Thresher.

Upon the success of the examination depends whether the bathyscaphe Trieste, now at Boston, may be called upon to descend soon to the 8,400-foot depth 220 miles east of Boston where Thresher is believed to have gone down with the 129 men aboard.

Trieste, the only device capable of withstanding the intense pressures at the bottom, is the Navy's best hope for getting a closeup view of the submarine. But salvage is out of the question.

Will Confuse Radar

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A deceptive new warhead capable of confusing enemy radars and other defense measures has been launched over a successful 5,000-mile course by an Atlas missile.

The warhead, propelled aloft Friday night, was slim and tapered to reduce the image which might appear on a radar screen. Packed in the vehicle was a stabilization device which is forerunner of a system which would enable missile warheads to shift course to avoid enemy countermeasures or to change targets.

May Run for Senate

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Leroy Collins, former Florida governor, said in Orlando, Fla., he "certainly will not be back next year running for governor" but would not rule out the possibility of running for the Senate "sometime in the future." Collins now is president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Wilson Will Attend State GOP Sessions

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican committee will attend a meeting of the New York State Republican Committee in Albany on Tuesday, April 30. The Assemblyman is also a member of the 33-member New York State Republican executive committee which will also meet the same day. As a member of the executive committee the Assemblyman represents the Third Judicial District. It is expected one of the important matters on the agenda will be the selection of a state chairman.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

The most serious problem facing veterans who holds GI insurance is to keep their beneficiary listing up to date. A recent survey disclosed that 49% of GI policyholders had some form of error in their beneficiary listing and in one third of the cases the major beneficiary designation had to be changed. In far too many cases it was pointed out that any similarity between the person or persons the veteran wanted to get his insurance benefits and those who actually would get it was strictly coincidental. The VA is compelled by law to pay only the beneficiary of record when it settles a life insurance claim. Most of the major errors arise when a veteran, who had originally designated a parent as a beneficiary, marries and forgets to name his wife or, later, his children as beneficiary and co-beneficiaries.

Any veteran who has married or remarried since designating his insurance beneficiary, or who has had children, and now wishes to bring his beneficiary designation in line with his present wishes should contact Charles L. Culver, state veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, or John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Farm Income Outlook
WASHINGTON (AP)—A slight dip in farm income this year was forecast today by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

In an analysis of income prospects, the department said: "Realized net farm income this year is likely to be almost as high as the 1962 estimate of $12.9 billion, which was the highest level in nine years."

Earlier, the department has said it expected the 1963 income to match last year. Net farm income—the amount left after deducting production costs — has been running at an annual rate of $12.7 billion so far this year.

Because of an expected further decline in the number of farms, the department said the average income per farm this year will probably equal the record of $3,500 in 1962.

Hospital Workers Union

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — AFL-CIO representatives from Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse say they are pressing for legislation which will allow them to organize non-professional hospital workers Upstate.

A spokesman announced Friday the formation of a group called the Tri-City and U-state Organizing and Legislative Committee.

Gov. Rockefeller has signed a bill giving employees of non-profit hospitals in New York City the right to join unions and be represented by them in bargaining. The law bars strikes, however, by mandating arbitration of disputes.

"The legislation that passed excluded us and we're pretty mad about it," said Frank H. Erolvino, organizer of the new group. Erolvino is an international vice president of the Laundry Workers Union. About 20 persons attended the organization meeting here.

U.S. Troops Accused

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist charges that U.S. troops are waging chemical warfare in South Viet Nam have been revived in a new Soviet protest. The Soviet complaint was outlined in a note handed to British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, the Soviet news agency Tass said. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference charged with keeping peace in Viet Nam.

In rejecting the charges, the United States said Vietnamese forces are using a harmless chemical to destroy foliage in areas where Communist guerrillas stage ambushes. The British said the charges are being investigated by the International Control Commission in South Viet Nam.

Seek End of Crisis

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutrist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma flew today to the troubled Plain de Jarres to seek settlement of a month-long crisis which threatens uneasy peace in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

There was little hope he could work out any final settlement of differences dividing various factions of his shaky coalition government.

But an aide said before Souvanna's departure, "We must keep on talking and negotiating. That is our only hope fore peace."

Rosemary Jean Costa, Louis M. Naccarato Are Wed in Double Ring Ceremonies Sunday

MR. AND MRS. LOUIS M. NACCARATO
(Lakeside photo)

The double ring wedding of Miss Rosemary Jean Costa and Louis Michael Naccarato was performed 2 p. m. Sunday, April 21 at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. James V. Keating, assistant pastor officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Costa of 42 Wiltwyck Avenue. Mr. Naccarato is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Naccarato of 27 Abryn Street.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist and Robert Gallo, soloist, presented musical selections. The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli and pompons and white satin bows marked the family pews. The bride dedicated a basket of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Escorted in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and a scalloped neckline enhanced with appliques of Alencon lace, reembroidered with seed pearls. The bell shaped skirt featured a full circular train and the wide English illusion veil was shirred to a queens crown of pleated tulle and seed pearls. She carried a stylized cascade of stephanotis and ivy centered with a spray of white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Frank W. Parslow of Kingston was matron of honor for her sister. Other bridal attendants were Theresa Misasi and Sandra Markle, both of this city.

They were gowned alike in ballet blue peau de sole styled with molded bodices, abbreviated sleeves and crescent necklines. The bell shaped skirts were floor length and they wore matching headpieces of stylized silk flowers and leaves with circular tulle veils. The honor attendant carried a cascade of pink carnations and glacier ivy. The other attendants carried cascades of blush pink carnations and glacier ivy.

Marlene Costa, sister of the bride and Jane Caruso, cousin of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore bon bon pink floor length dresses with short sleeves and round necklines. They wore wreaths of matching flowers in their hair.

Michael Amato of Kingston was best man. Ushers were Louis Caterino and Charles Naccarato, cousins of the bridegroom, both of Kingston. A reception was held at the Capri Restaurant.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a pink sheath dress with matching jacket, black accessories and a corsage of white orchids. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 27 Abryn Street.

A graduate of Kingston High School, the bride is employed at the State of New York National Bank.

Mr. Naccarato, a KHS graduate, received his training at the Royal Barber and Beauty Shop and is employed at Sal's Barber Shop.

NO BREAD-AND-BUTTER LETTER RECEIVED

Q: Recently my brother, who works in another state, became engaged. He and his fiancée planned to visit us for a week. It so happened that the only time they could come was the same time my parents had planned their vacation. My brother and his fiancée did not want them to change their plans. My parents entertained them for two days before leaving on vacation. I took over the role of hostess after they had gone. I prepared the meals for my brother and his fiancée and I also cancelled several engagements of my own in order to be with them. When my brother's fiancée returned home she sent my mother a bread-and-butter letter, and not one word to me. I believe I should have received a note of thanks and am quite put out because I didn't. Am I wrong to expect this simple courtesy?

A: Her bread-and-butter letter to your mother was correct and it was not necessary for her to have written a separate thank-you note to you. I do agree, however, that her omission of any thanks to you in her note was not very gracious.

Bridal Shower for Secret Bride
Q: Would it be proper and in good taste to give a shower for a friend of mine who has been secretly married for six months and has just revealed the news?

A: It would neither be improper nor in bad taste to give a shower for your friend if you wish to do so.

A Cancelled European Trip
Q: My father's sudden death cancelled my European trip. I received quite a few going away presents from my friends which I still have. Should these be returned?

A: If your trip has been put off indefinitely, you should return them.

Miss Cudney was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by the Board of Education as secretary at the Myron J. Michael Junior High School but will be transferred to the new J. Watson Bailey Junior High School in July.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Ontario Central School and Schenectady School of Modern Welding. He is a member of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and is employed at Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Company.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Sisterhood to Honor Mrs. Raphael Klein; Testimonial Dinner Slated for Sunday, May 5

The Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim has announced the completion of its plans for a testimonial dinner honoring Mrs. Raphael Klein to be held in the vestry rooms of the synagogue at 24 W. Union Street on Sunday evening, May 5th, at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Klein, who was born in New York City, is the daughter of the late Gussie and David Wald and is the wife of Raphael Klein, a member of the faculty of Kingston High School and the Director of Adult Education for the Kingston Consolidated School District. The Kleins have one son, Dr. Philipp H. Klein, a chemist of Newtonville, Mass., and three grandsons. She is a sister to the Hon. Albert Wald, a former New York State Senator and to Gerson E. Wald, a prominent consultant engineer, both of New York City.

Mrs. Klein received her early education in New York City's elementary and high schools. She continued her studies at the Women's Art School of Cooper Union and the Art Students' League in New York City and later at the State College in New Paltz, N. Y.

Since she moved to Ulster County 38 years ago, Mrs. Klein has been very well known for her activities in the following organizations: The Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim, B'nai Brith Women, Hadassah, Jewish Center, Kingston Talmud Torah, Ulster County Grange (Pomona), the YWCA, 4-H Clubs, Maternal Health Center, Ulster County Home Bureau, and the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary. In many of these organizations she served as either an officer or board member. However, during all of this time, she has been most prominently known for organizing and work she has done with youth groups affiliated with these organizations. During World War 2, she served on Mayor Heise's War-time Youth

KHS Choir Concert Slated for May 10, 11; Tickets Available

The annual Kingston High School Choir concert will be presented Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11 at 8:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The choir this year, has had one of the busiest seasons in its history; participating in the dedication ceremonies of the Volkswagen two and a half million dollar national headquarters building at Englewood Cliffs, N. J., at which Governor Richard J. Hughes was the guest speaker; giving a demonstration of Voice Training procedures and techniques at the annual conference of the New York State School Music Association at the Hotel Concord on December 4, and was honored by being chosen to present a program at the opening session of the Eastern Division of the Music Educators National Conference at Atlantic City on March 1.

The local concert will consist of the program given at Atlantic City, selections from the opera "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss as well as several other numbers. An unusual feature of the concert this year is the two piano team which will be used to accompany the choir.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the choir and may also be purchased at the door both nights of the concert.

30 Youngsters Complete Young Boatman's Course

Thirty area youngsters earned their New York State safety certificates by recently completing the young boatman's safety course at Kingston Power Boat Association hall.

The course was taught by Cleon Jump, and assisted by Charles Kohl and Joseph Huber, all authorized instructors approved by the Division of Motor Boats, State Conservation Department.

May Operate Boats

The youngsters, between 10 and 15 years of age, may now operate mechanically propelled boats unattended on New York State waters.

The five-week course culminated in an examination which all passed.

Graduation ceremonies and awarding of safety certificates was held Monday night at the KPBA hall.

Commodore Alfred K. Steeger welcomed the class and congratulated them on their achievement. After the diplomas were awarded, refreshments were served by the KPBA House Committee.

Judge Gets Proof

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "You eat glass?" asked City Court Judge Joseph Kuszynski.

"Yes, I eat glass and fire too," replied Lee Mingie, 37.

Mingie had been arrested in a tavern. A barmaid said he was eating glasses.

Mingie stood before the judge Friday, wadded a sheet of paper into a ball, set it afire, and popped it into his mouth. Smoke came out his nostrils.

Then he ate the match.

"Fire won't hurt anybody," said Mingie, who described himself as an unemployed entertainer.

He offered to eat the water glass on the judge's bench. The judge declined, then suspended sentence after Mingie pleaded guilty to charges of public intoxication and creating a disturbance.

Nominate Sawkill Man as President Of Fire Police

John Reichert of Sawkill was nominated for the office of president of the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County Inc., at the fifth annual banquet held recently at Pinegrove Hotel, Kerhonkson.

The new president will succeed Fritz Apel of Kerhonkson, who served last year.

Others nominated are Edmund Schoonmaker of Accord, vice president; John Sahloff of Kingston, recording secretary; Walter Pilz of Hurley, financial secretary; Frank Platz, Shandaken, treasurer; and Apel, director for five years.

Two association advisors appointed are Alvin Beatty of New Paltz and Russell McConnell of Marlboro.

Election of officers will be held Wednesday, June 12 at 8:30 p. m. in Accord Firehouse.

Beatty, who served as toastmaster said the association will be eight years old in June. He reported that two fire police schools under the direction of Dennis Hurley, instructor were completed, and another school is planned in the near future.

Beatty also reported the county group is attempting to bring the state convention to Ulster County in 1964.

A total of 90 members and guests attended the dinner.

Special guests were Mrs. Arthur Rice, wife of the late Arthur Rice, who was the organizer of the association here; Col. George Chandler, founder and organizer of the New York State Police; Edward (Yank) Albrecht, retired captain of Kingston Paid Fire Department; Winfred Snyder, county fire coordinator; Supreme Court Judge Lawrence Cooke of Sullivan County, president of Hudson Valley Volunteer Fireman's Association; Richard Marquard of Modena, a magician, who entertained, and the Rev. Willet Porter of New Paltz, chaplain.

Charles Drought of Rockland County, who said he helped organize 29 county fire police associations, said he was happy to attend the annual banquet.

Ponsen Reviews Two of Topics at May 6-17 Seminar

Two of the major topics to be covered at the National Security Seminar here May 6-17 are Communism and Southeast Asia. Both are currently extremely important to the future welfare of the U. S. and world peace.

In releasing this information today, John Ponsen, the general chairman of the local Chamber of Commerce Committee, sponsors of the seminar, these are only two of the subjects to be covered in the series of 32 lectures.

The lectures on Communism will include the evolution and development of Communism; how it became Soviet Communism; its threat to the Free World and Communism in action today. Ponsen said that a better understanding of this major factor in the world situation can be obtained by attending these lectures by Col. Theodore H. Erb, an authority on the subject.

The Southeast Asian topic will be covered by Captain E. Scott McCuskey, USN. He will cover this current world "hot spot" in detail and provide background information on the problems we face in this area.

Information about the other subjects to be covered at the National Security Seminar, programs and registration blanks are available at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel building, headquarters for the seminar.

A modest registration fee is charged to merely cover the expense of printing and others incurred by the local committee. Each person enrolling will receive a plastic kit containing a complete syllabus of the course, the attendance tickets, etc. The tickets are transferable and may be used by anyone.

The Seminar Committee also has a booth at the Lions Club Exposition which is manned by members of the committee serving as volunteers. They are prepared to answer questions interested persons may have about the seminar.

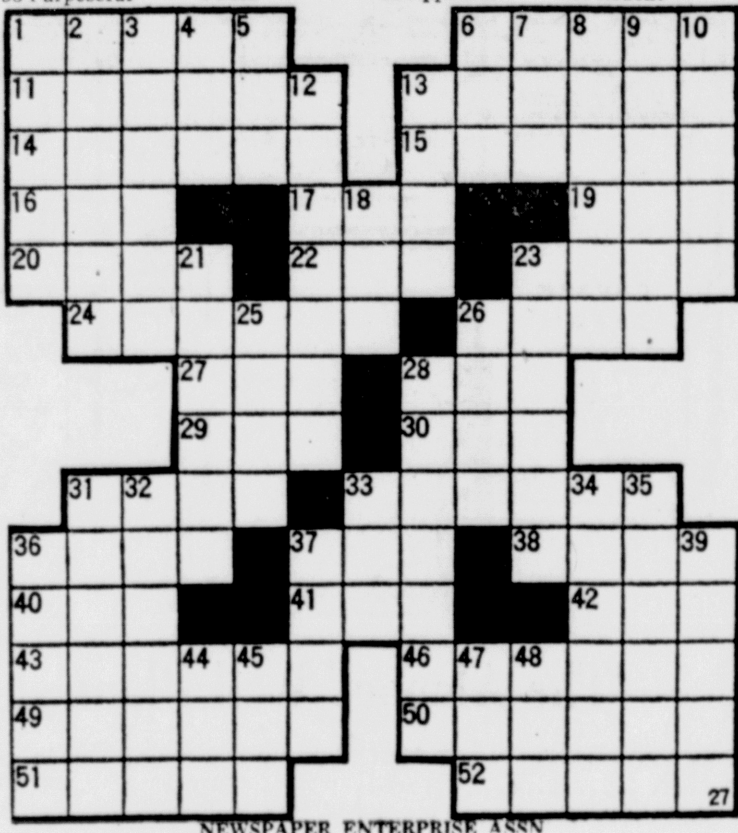

The National Security Seminar is conducted by an experienced staff of six instructors at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, D. C., and sponsored locally by the Chamber of Commerce. Ponsen also said the seminar is a real opportunity for civic leaders and interested citizens to become better posted on many world and national problems.

Check Local Codes

Building codes in most communities regulate room additions as well as new construction. Make certain you and your home improvement contractor are aware of local building code requirements.

East's Play Very Tricky

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's hand lies in the borderline between one and two no-trump so his opening club bid is eminently correct. So is South's one heart response. While North has a great choice of rebids four hearts seems ideal.

West opens the four of spades and the trick is won by dummy's king.

South goes right after the trumps and cashes the ace and king only to find that the suit does not break. Still, there is nothing much to worry about. He starts on the clubs and if that suit goes around three times South can get rid of two of his diamonds before East can attack the suit.

However, East will ruff that third club with his queen of trumps and lead diamonds and if he is really up to par he will lead his deuce of diamonds, not the king.

This play of the deuce of diamonds is in accordance with the principle that if there is only one combination of cards that will yield a satisfactory result then assume that combination exists. East can see that he won't beat the hand unless his partner holds the ace and one diamond and must play for that combination.

Tiling Tip

When readying a ceiling for installation of fiberboard ceiling tiles, furring or stapling strips should be fastened to the existing ceiling, advise installation experts at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. The one-inch strips should be 12 inches apart so the 12x12-inch tiles can be fastened in the center of each strip.

Name Accord Man To Wheat Group, Vote Set May 21

Franklin Kelder of Accord has been appointed chairman of the Ulster County Farm Bureau wheat committee, it was announced today.

In making the announcement Farm Bureau President Robert Davenport said, "The purpose of the wheat committee is to help farmers gain an appreciation of the implications of the wheat referendum on May 21, in order that a high per cent of the wheat growers with allotments will participate in the referendum."

Limited to Growers

The referendum — in which only wheat growers are eligible to vote — could well determine whether the federal government will manage and control dairymen, poultry and livestock producers as well as other crops not now controlled," Davenport said. He said, "Fortunately, the plan can be defeated by a 'no' vote."

Other county wheat committee members are Philip Davis of Kerhonkson; Jack Schoonmaker, Accord; Moe Smith, Walkkill; Spencer Schoonmaker, Gardiner and Charles Van Alst, New Paltz.

The Farm Bureau is a voluntary organization with 14,000 farm families in New York State who make farming their business.

Group in Washington

Membership contest winners who visited Washington, D. C. this week included Mr. and Mrs. Philip Davis of Kerhonkson; Mr. and Mrs. John Pizzo, Marlboro, and Kenneth Bell of Stone Ridge, who is bureau area fieldman. Scheduled highlights of the trip included visits with Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 28th District, and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating; a tour of the House, Senate and the Farm Bureau Federation offices, and the opening of the Supreme Court.

Farm Bureau women in the country held their Rural-Urban Luncheon. Scheduled highlights of the trip included visits with Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 28th District, and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating; a tour of the House, Senate and the Farm Bureau Federation offices, and the opening of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Richard Schoonmaker is chairman of the County Farm Bureau Women's Committee. Members in charge of the local event included Mrs. Anthony Moriello, Mrs. Rod Dressel, Mrs. Jack Gill and Mrs. Al Netzel. Meanwhile, a luncheon in New York City sponsored by the Bureau's State Women's Committee, brought together a number of women in press and radio work, to discuss current programs and problems in connection with the urban-rural program.

"Through their organizations," Mrs. Donald Tutill, chairman of the state committee said, "women can have a surprising influence in their communities. We feel that women should become more directly involved in public affairs and programs which strengthen freedom of opportunity in our nation. The influence of women could have a real impact on the future of America. The county committee invited women in county government and wives of county government officials to join them in the local luncheon conference."

Wins Nat'l Contest: Gets Word From Chums

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Montana, who won a Mrs. America contest home decoration event, was about the last to hear of her success.

The news reached her in the form of congratulatory telegrams from her home state. Judges named Gloria Heggen, 38, of Ekakaka, Mont., top home decorator Wednesday and duly told reporters their choice. Next day, Mrs. Heggen was bewildered by telegrams received from friends in her home town and other Montana communities.

She checked with contest officials. They said they had forgotten to notify her.

In Thursday's competition, Mrs. Maine, Phyllis Brynes, of Portland, won the hair styling event.

Gabrielle Broncato Gets WAC Promotion

Specialist Four Gabrielle Broncato was recently promoted to that grade at the U. S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Md.

Specialist Broncato, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Broncato of Tillson, is a member of the WAC Detachment at Fort Holabird, and is a former member of the Ground Observer Corps in Kingston where she held the rank of Assistant Chief Observer until the corps was deactivated in 1956.

She entered the Army July 24, 1961, completing basic training and basic clerical training school at Fort McClellan, Ala., before being transferred to Fort Holabird in December of that year.

She is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Support of Bill To Reduce Animal Suffering Urged

Public support of a bill introduced in the House of Representatives, which would minimize suffering for laboratory animals used for experimentation, was urged today.

Diana M. Geiger, of Box 205, New Paltz RD 2, wrote The Freeman urging passage of the so-called "Randall Bill" (H. R. 4856) in congress.

She said the bill, introduced by Representative William J. Randall, has the support of the Humane Society of the U. S. and the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

She wrote in part: "Many, many animals are being subjected to the most horrible suffering in experimental laboratories throughout the United States."

"Our government is concerned with its responsibility to legislate on this matter, and there are at present several bills before Congress, which seek to set up standards of common decency in the treatment of these animals."

"Because of the requirements it specifies for enforcement, the Randall bill would be more effective than any of the other bills. If enacted it would eliminate the worst cruelties perpetrated on laboratory animals, and would, as well, save considerable tax money by avoiding wasteful duplication of experiments."

She urged the public to write or send post cards to U. S. Senators Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., and Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, House Office Building, Washington, D. C., urging them to work for passage of the bill.

Reaction to 50-Mile Hikes Called Foolish

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The national reaction to President Kennedy's challenge on 50-mile hikes was foolhardy, says a former Green Bay Packer football lineman.

"Leave the spectacles for television," Dr. James S. Feurig, now director of student health at Michigan State University, said at the American College Health Association meeting Thursday. He said less than 2 1/2 per cent of Americans get enough exercise at their work.

Future Is Rosy, Mohawk Opines; Last Year Best

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A Mohawk Airlines official says the carrier has completed "probably its best year to date and is looking forward to better years in the future."

E. Victor Underwood, chairman of Mohawk's board, made the optimistic prediction Friday at the 18th annual stockholders' meeting.

Robert E. Peach, president of the airline, told the stockholders that, in the past 12 months, Mohawk's profits amounted to $645,000, compared with the $170,000 earned in the previous 12-month period.

Peach reported, however, that the earnings for the first quarter of 1963 were "disappointing." He cited "unproductive extra mileage" flown to compete with other airlines.

But he said that, by continuing to fly these routes, Mohawk eventually would reap added profits by increasing the number of passengers.

Buy More Paint

When you get to the bottom of the paint can and there's practically no paint left, don't try to stretch it by adding paint thinner (or water if it's a latex paint). The thinned-down, pigmented-poor product you're making just won't hide the old surface. Go back to your reputable paint dealer, advise the National Paint, Varnish & Lacquer Association, and buy enough paint to finish the job right.

High School Wallops Roosevelt, 20-1, for Third Triumph Lunney's Perfect Game Stops Onteora Central, 10-0

McAndrew Hurls Victory, Slams Homer for KHS

After playing three innings of scoreless ball, Kingston High's big guns started to smoke when the firing had ended, the locals had captured a lopsided, 20-1, triumph yesterday at Roosevelt.

The locals, in winning their third game in five outings, scored seven runs in the fourth and then added three in the fifth and 10 more in the seventh. It was simply a rout.

Louie McAndrew worked four strong innings for Coach Al Gruner's nine. He was touched for a solo homer by Wes Bialosuknia in the fourth. Joe Shabot made his varsity debut as a hurler and impressed the rest of the way.

McAndrew aided his cause with a home run while Dave Horton had a triple and single. Pat Berardi stroked a pair of bingles as the locals had 13 hits and the FDR hurlers were liberal with the bases on balls. Bialosuknia was the loser.

Kingston will make its DUSO debut on Monday, playing at Port Jervis.

Marlboro Wins, 7-2, Over Highland Club

Lefty Vince Caserto and righty Fred Ellis put on a strike show yesterday at Marlboro as the Dukes remained unbeaten with a 7-2 UCAL verdict over Highland.

Caserto struck out 17 batters and allowed only two hits. Ellis, who has been pitching varsity ball at Highland since he was a freshman four seasons ago, allowed nine safeties and fanned 16 batters. Caserto was somewhat on the wild side, issuing eight passes.

Coach Jack Kroh's flashy team broke open a 2-0 game with a four run barrage in the fourth frame. Highland scored twice in the fifth but Caserto shut the door after that.

Vinnie was also the best hitter for the Dukes, collecting three singles in four trips. Steve Aurigemma had a pair of safeties.

Marlboro will host New Paltz

Giannotti Sets Mark, SHS Cindermen Lose

Richie Giannotti set a school record in the broad jump but it wasn't enough as the Saugerties High track team was whipped, 72-55, by Hudson yesterday.

Giannotti jumped 20 feet, 8 inches, bettering his previous record of 20 feet, 2 inches, set when he was a freshman. The SHS flash also captured a win in the 100 yard dash, being timed in 10.3 seconds.

Charles Nordquist also set a school mark, running the two mile race in 11 minutes, 52 seconds. Though he finished third, his time was the best in the school's history.

Results:
180 yard hurdles — 1. Reissler, S; 2. Gardner, H; 3. Hudson, S. Time 23.1 seconds.

100 yard dash — 1. Giannotti, S; 2. Gallo, H; 3. Emerling, H. Time 10.3 seconds.

220 yard dash — 1. Fusick, S; 2. Gallo, H; 3. Emerling, H. Time 23.5 seconds.

440 yard run — 1. Irwin, H; 2. Seither, S; 3. Melnick, H. Time 55 seconds.

Pine Bush Ace Fans 11 Batters In UCAL Tilt

John Lunney was a perfect pitcher at Boiceville yesterday, facing only 21 batters as Pine Bush spanked Onteora, 10-0, in a UCAL contest.

The veteran righthander set the Indians down one-two-three for the entire seven-inning contest, fanning 11 of them and allowing only one ball to be hit hard.

Meanwhile, the visitors, aided by some sloppy play on the part of the Onteora defense, tapped Linden Frasier for eight safeties, including a pair of doubles by centerfielder Dean Weed.

Pine Bush scored three runs in the first frame, added two in the second and finished with a five run cluster in the seventh.

Of course, the way Lunney mowed down the Indians, one run would have been more than enough.

Wright Leading Women's Tourney
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Admittedly out to break the women's titleholders record, vivacious Mickey Wright leads by one stroke going into today's third round. But the defending champion isn't counting out second-place Marilyn Smith in a bid for her third consecutive championship.

"The course is just right for a new record and I intend to set it," the blonde Texan said convincingly after shooting a 34-38-72 par round Friday over the Augusta Country Club course. "But I think Marilyn is the one to beat."

Coupled with her first round 74, Miss Wright, of Dallas, has a 2-over-par 146 for two rounds. Pars on each of the next two rounds would give her a 290—one under the 291 record set by Patty Berg in 1955.

Miss Smith, a consistent Jupiter, Fla., challenger who never has won a major tournament on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour, carded a 37-38-75 to go with her first round 72 for 36-hole total of 147.

JoAnn Prentice of Columbia, S.C., first round leader with a 71, shot a cold 77 and dropped into a three-way third-place tie with Carol Mann of Atlanta and Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, Va., all with 148s.

Wagner Paces LA Over Birds

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bill Wagner was once asked about the possibility that Leon Wagner would be traded. The Angels' manager replied:

"Where Daddy Wags goes, Rig-nay goes."

There's any number of reasons the Los Angeles manager could be high on the free-swinging outfielder he rescued from the minors, but Friday night's performance is as good an indicator as any.

Wagner's scorecard: Five hits, including two home runs and a double, and three runs batted in. Even at that, however, the Angels had to go to 13 innings before beating Baltimore 4-3 in a game that knocked the Orioles out of first place in the American League. Idle Chicago backed into the top spot.

Kansas City had a chance to take it over, but could manage only a split in a long twilight do-or-die at Washington. The A's won the first 12-10 in 13 innings, but Tom Cheney shut them out on three hits, 6-0, in the nightcap that wound up about 1 a. m.

EST. Minnesota beat Detroit 7-5 in the only other game scheduled. Wagner, who has had four home runs in his last two games, drove in the Angels' first three runs on a pair of homers off Baltimore starter Robin Roberts, and had a hand in the winning run in the 13th.

Lee Thomas opened the inning with a single and headed for third when Wagner rapped a single for his fifth hit. Baltimore center fielder Bob Saverine, trying to catch Thomas at third, threw the ball into the dugout and Thomas trotted in with the winner.

Wagner's burst hit his batting average to .333 and gave him six homers, tops in the league.

Cincy Bows To Houston On One Hit
By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're just not hitting, our pitching hasn't been too good, and our defense has been spotty."

And if those words from Cincinnati Mgr. Fred Hutchinson don't accurately describe the reason the pennant hopeful Reds are in ninth place in the National League, then there haven't been 75 barks called this season.

Houston right-hander Bob Bruce made Hutch's words more prophetic once the ams took the field Friday night, allowing only a first-inning single by Vada Pinson while pitching the first one-hitter in the league this season for a 2-0 Colts victory.

"We haven't had a run batted in from our third-base position (Gene Freese and Eddie Kasko), and none from our second base spot (Don Basagume and Pete Rose)," said Hutchinson. "Vada Pinson hasn't been hitting, either."

Pinson hit against the Colts, getting the Reds' first and last when he singled sharply to right field in the first inning. Bruce, 29, a former American League, hit a batter in the second, then retired 19 in a row before allowing two base runners on walks in the ninth.

The Reds have lost four in a row—two by shutouts—and have scored only three runs during the skid.

Meanwhile, at the top of the standings, St. Louis took sole possession of first place when a two-run double by Bill White and George Altman's run-producing single with two out in the ninth carried the Cards to an 8-7 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Seven unearned runs and the three-hit pitching of Lew Burdette carried Milwaukee to a 9-2 decision over San Francisco. Pittsburgh whipped the New York Mets 5-2 and Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

There Were Times in History When Stamps Were Used as Money

Many times, persons used unused postage stamps for money. They are handy for enclosing in envelopes to pay small amounts. Many companies regularly accept unused stamps for all amounts of less than a dollar. But in some countries stamps have served as regular money; in fact, even as coins.

Stamp coinage has not been common. It has been used as a measure in extreme need. Thus we find that it was popular in times of war or some great disaster.

For example, in 1918 Turkey found itself short of money. That year it had issued two stamps for postage that pictured the St. Sophia Mosque in Constantinople. But the stamps had been printed in too large quantities for use and many were left. So these were pasted onto thick yellow paper to make them sturdy, then they were put out by the government as actual money. The denominations were 5 and 10 paras, the same as the stamps, but they were changed about the edges so that a new set of little holes called perforations would identify them as money instead of stamps.

Two other countries issued stamp money that is still available today. The stamps themselves are very fragile and do not wear well. Even in albums or on letters, many get torn. So that when the stamps have been used as money, all have required extra strength for their hand-to-hand travel.

Spain's stamp money

ZOO'S WHO

by GEORGE SCARBO

MARMOSETS ARE FOUND IN THE TREE TOPS OF SOUTH AMERICA. THEY LIVE ON INSECTS, LEAVES, BANANAS AND SMALL ANIMALS.

MARMOSETS ARE CLOSELY RELATED TO SQUIRREL MONKEYS. THEY HOP AROUND AND SIT ON THEIR HAUNCHES AND HOLD FOOD WITH THEIR FORE PAWS.

MARMOSETS ARE LESS THAN A FOOT LONG AND HAVE LONG, NON-PREHENSILE TAILS.

THE LION MARMOSET PICTURED HERE IS MORE BRILLIANTLY COLORED THAN ITS RELATIVES. IT HAS A BRIGHT GOLDEN-YELLOW COAT AND PURPLE FACE, HANDS AND FEET. IT HAS A FULL, FLUFFY MANE AROUND ITS FACE AND NECK.

FATHER LION MARMOSETS ARE OFTEN SEEN CARRYING THEIR YOUNG, AN UNUSUAL THING IN THE ANIMAL WORLD.

comes from the 1937 period, again a time of war. Spain used stamps of the 25 centavos amount which today cost about a dime unused. The stamps were pasted onto thin cardboard discs that resemble the lining of a screw lid for a salad dressing jar. The reverse side carries the symbolic arms of Spain so that on one could imitate the money at home with jar linings.

The stamp itself dates from 1934 but, made into a coin, it is worth about four times the time to coin collectors. Other stamps of this same 1931-1934 series were also made into coins which are available at times today. This sort of coinage has one great disadvantage in that it is readily destroyed in war's perils as well as by age while metal coins are very lasting, by comparison.

Germany made a great many pieces of stamp money during the First World War and the years immediately afterward. To further save money, it appears that the German government permitted individuals or private companies to pay for the cost of making the stamp money in exchange for advertising on the money itself. Each stamp is protected by a clear celluloid cover and backed by colored cardboard, but the outer backing carries the advertising.

The stamp, cover and backing are all bound together with a metal frame that extends to form a border in front and the complete outer backing.

The money, being much less common than the stamp, sells for about thirty-five cents today where the stamp is hardly worth two. The advertising insists that "Merz shoe polish brings gleam into the house." At least, the coin has a nice gleam.

Others of these post-war German coins advertised such things as Lebona Creme, a Berlin firm, and Frankfurt products. Somehow, the idea seems rather strange and we should feel very shocked to see the designs on our quarter replaced by slogans to eat certain brands of bread or use special tooth pastes. But the stamp money has served a very useful purpose when a government had difficulty in paying for its own coins.

Perhaps in principle stamp money is not much different from our own paper certificates for dollars.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr., was known as "Gordo" when young.

Early Interest in Flying Led Cooper to a Career

Like many astronauts, L. Gordon Cooper Jr., who will make our first 22-orbit flight some time early in May, 1963, had an early interest in flying. He made his first flight when he was seven years old in a small plane piloted by his father who was then District Judge of Shawnee, Okla.

In telling of his first flight his mother, Mrs. Hattie Cooper says, "I'll never forget THAT day!"

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. was born in Shawnee, Okla., on March 6, 1927. There he grew up and went to grade and high school. His nickname was Gordo.

He took pilot lessons from "Red" Regan, the owner of the Shawnee airport. Cooper made his first solo flight in a Piper Cub when he was 17.

Next to wanting to fly, Gordo wanted to play the piano. He worked hard at this because he didn't want the money his family spent on lessons to be wasted. Cooper still has the small studio piano he first took lessons on.

These piano lessons, incidentally, gave Cooper useful training for flying the Project Mercury Capsule. They taught him to put his finger down on just the right key at the right time.

Gordo was always a good student, ranking in the upper part of his classes in grade and high school. He made straight A's in citizenship all the way through.

Cooper was also busy with other things besides studies in high school. He won letters in football, was a member of Hi-Y and the Honor Society.

Friends of high school days remember Cooper as a dark, wavy-haired boy with a light complexion. He usually wore dark clothes and blue jeans with a three-inch cuff.

While Cooper was in high school, World War II broke out in 1941, and in 1942 Cooper's father got a second lieutenant's commission in the Army.

Cooper Jr., also entered military service—the Marine Corps—as soon as he graduated from high school in 1945. As a Marine, Cooper went to the Naval Academy Preparatory School, and was a member of the Presidential Honor Guard in Washington, D.C.

On his discharge from the Marines in August, 1946, Cooper joined his parents who were then stationed in Hawaii. Cooper studied at the University of Hawaii for 3 years. While there he met a coed, Miss Trudy Olson from Seattle, Wash., who was teaching flying at Honolulu. He first saw her when she was performing as a majorette at a football game. They were married in 1947.

While in Hawaii, Cooper got a Commission in the Army, and this he transferred to the Air Force.

The year 1949 was an eventful one for the Coopers—their first daughter, Camala K., was born and the Air Force called Cooper up for active duty and flight training. Janita L., the second daughter, was born in 1951.

After a 4-year tour of duty in Germany, Cooper came back to the United States to finish his college education at the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Engineering in April, 1957. The Air Force then sent Cooper to its Experimental Flight Test School at Edwards Air Force Base, California.

Cooper won his test pilot's wings there in 1957. He stayed on at Edwards, and tested many experimental fighter planes including the supersonic F-104 and F-106.

Cooper has the same hobbies that his father did. These hobbies are do-it-yourself carpentry, hunting, fishing, photography, and of course, flying.

Short Story by Nettie Leigh---

Mother Solves the Sputter Disappearance Mystery

Sputter was a black and white spotted kitten. Sputter belonged to a little girl named Jane and her brother Chuck. Jane and Chuck loved Sputter very much. They played with her and taught her to do tricks. They thought Sputter was the smartest kitten there ever was.

Sputter played hiding and hunting games with the children. She also learned some things all by herself. She always wanted to know where everyone in the family was. Whenever she came into the house, she would go into all the rooms and look around. Then she would go upstairs and look around. If she didn't find anyone upstairs, she would come back down the steps.

On this day, however, Jane and Chuck's mother had been cleaning the attic. When she had come down the attic stairs she had her arms full of things. So she didn't shut the door at the foot of the attic stairs. That afternoon when the children came from school they brought Sputter up from her basement bed. Sputter made her usual trip upstairs.

Sputter always wanted to know where everyone was.

Right away she spied the attic stairs. Up those steps she scampered to see what was up there. It took Sputter quite a long time to poke her little nose into every corner. Everything in the attic was new to her. Sputter squeezed behind every trunk. She climbed up onto every box and bureau.

While Sputter was still looking everything over, someone downstairs opened an outside door. A breeze blew in and up the stairway, and slam went the attic door.

After a long time Sputter hadn't come back downstairs. The children wondered what she was doing upstairs so long. They trooped up the stairs to find Sputter.

Jane and Chuck searched in every room but they couldn't find their pet. They called, but Sputter didn't answer. She must have had her nose behind a big trunk at that moment.

Mother and daddy came and searched, too. Jane and Chuck felt very bad. What could have happened to Sputter? Then mother remembered that she had left the attic door open.

"Did you close the attic door, Chuck?" she asked.

"No, mother, I didn't shut it. It was already shut when we came up here," Chuckie answered.

Mother smiled mysteriously and opened the attic door. There sat Sputter. She was so glad to see her friends. She sprang into Jane's arms and began to purr. But Sputter wasn't any more happy than were Jane and Chuck.

He's Just an Apple Head

Let's try our hand at apple sculpture. For the work you'll need a firm, hard green apple. Look it over carefully to make certain that it has no holes or bad spots.

Using a paring knife, peel the fruit carefully so that it is smooth with no ridges showing. Remove the stem. Now, use the knife to carve the apple into a head, complete with nose, eyes, mouth and chin. Make a couple of cuts across the forehead to form wrinkles. Carve away parts of the apple on each side leaving stick-out parts to serve as ears. Mold the face still more by carefully pressing the different areas with the finger tips.

When the face looks as real as possible, submerge the apple in lemon juice for a few minutes.

Put the head on a plate and set it where it will not be disturbed, and where fresh air and a little sunshine can reach it. To keep insects away, cover the fruit with a piece of netting.

During the drying process insert eyes, using small nails with round heads, pearl tapica or whole cloves.

Let the apple dry at least a month.

When it is finished you will have the sculptured head of an old man with a brown, wrinkled face.

Nothing is the best thing to do in too great a hurry.

It's the fellow with cold feet that the world keeps in hot water.

Don't let too much money go to your head -- keep on your feet by putting it into government bonds.

After all is said and done, the very successful person does a lot more than is expected.
